Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 09 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Very cold with snow showers and brisk easterly winds.

Today:
Snow showers continuing, with some brightness between showers. Further accumulations of snow may lead to some disruption, with drifting snow. Icy stretches will persist on untreated surfaces with a bitterly cold easterly wind, which will be strong near coasts. Maximum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Tonight:
Snow and possible hail showers will continue to affect most areas overnight, with some brief clear spells. It will feel bitterly cold in the brisk winds with a hard frost. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Wednesday:
Snow showers continuing through Wednesday probably turning lighter and less frequent inland by evening, with some bright or sunny spells. Northeasterly winds will be a little less strong. Very cold. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Drier and brighter during Thursday with light winds, Strong southeasterly winds developing for Friday and Saturday with a chance of snow - mainly later on Saturday. Staying very cold.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.